

DR ANGHARAD ROBERTS

SENIOR ANALYST

SUMMARY

I am a Senior Analyst working on a variety of consultancy assignments across the UK. Over the last 20 years, I have worked in a range of roles in academic administration, as a librarian and information specialist and as a research strategy and policy manager. I have experience of working in numerous different sectors, including Higher Education, the NHS, and local government. I have recently worked as a Sub-Panel Secretary for REF 2021, providing high-quality professional support to two sub-panels during the assessment phase, undertaking this role on a secondment basis from Research Consulting. I have extensive experience in equality, diversity and inclusion (EDI), having shaped EDI policies and practices in public sector organisations including a local authority and a university. Within Research Consulting, I provide advice and support on matters relating to EDI considerations in individual projects. I have a PhD in Information Studies and have experience of project management and of generating insights from research, using qualitative and quantitative techniques.
